

CVPOA to tackle vital problems

Vital problems affecting the future of Carmel Valley will be brought before the meeting of the Property Owners Association when they meet for a panel discussion tonight (Thursday) at the Community Youth Center on Ford Road at 8 p.m.

County Supervisor Willard Branson, and County Planning Commissioners Keith B. Evans and Edward P. Marcucci, will meet with the group in a round table discussion.

During winter rains, hillside run-offs have posed the slope density problem that members hope the new Master Plan may be able to solve.

It is hoped to delete the G zone that was introduced three years ago giving limited commercial use in residential areas for executive offices, etc., on five acres of land, and research projects and hotel privileges on ten acres of land.

MASTER PLAN REVIEW

Meanwhile the County Planning Commission took the first steps towards an overall review of the C.V. Master Plan, now 9 years old.

Chairman Marcucci appointed himself and Evans as a committee to meet with Planning Director Edward Demars and Road Commissioner Bruce McClain to establish common aims.

At its meeting last week, Valleyites were reassured that efforts would be directed in making the Master Plan more effective. Valleyites present were firm in their position that they would not tolerate any downgrading of the Plan.

Mainly at issue are an acceptable slope density formula, lot-size minimums and zoning.

Variance, Use Permit granted for Valley

A Variance was granted to Mildred Armstrong which allows a reduction in side yard setback requirements fronting on Middle Canyon Road at a hearing of the Monterey County Zone Administrator in the Board of Supervisors Chambers recently.

A Use Permit was granted to George Buck which allows the establishment of an on-site sign at the Valley Hills Nursery in Lower Carmel Valley.

The Zoning Administrator subjected the grant to conditions that the sign be located off public right-of-way and must be removed from the Official Plan Line by the owner when the property is required for road purposes.

Hearings set

One Variance and two Use Permits were set for hearing Thursday, April 24, in the Monterey County Zoning Administrator's office.

A Variance for Larry Clark for a reduction in front yard setback requirements will be heard.

A Use Permit for Anton Mercurio for four panhandle lots; and an on-site sign for the Valley Plaza Shopping Center will be heard.

More rain for the week

Rainfall for the past week was .15 inches, bringing the total rainfall for the season to 29.94 compared to 10.94 one year ago.

The high for the week was 68 degrees last Thursday. The low was 34 degrees on Sunday.

Kiwanians hear of

Young Life group

Although they outnumber dissidents and troublemakers, less is heard of the activities of the Young Life group, Carmel Valley Kiwanians were told when they met at the Rippling River Resort last week.

Bob Broyles, area director of Young Life, was accompanied by two Carmel High School students, Lance Lighthall and Gail Montgomery, when he spoke before the local organization. The young people told of their experience in the Young Life camps and what the organization had meant to them.

Broyles touched upon the purpose of the organization that was started in 1941 strictly for High School students. With a staff of over 400 working in over 80 major areas in the United States and other countries, they maintain 11 camps in the U.S. and Canada with scholarship programs to help youths who could not otherwise attend.

Pool opens under five year lease

The approval of a five-year lease of the swimming pool at the Carmel Valley Community Youth Center Pool was given at a meeting last week of the trustees of the Carmel Unified School District.

Grass fire reported

Volunteers of the Carmel Valley Fire Department answered a call for a grass fire at the Carmel Valley Inn Monday afternoon at 2:41 p.m.

No damage was reported.

Comsat Station to open next week

The public will soon have a chance to see that Comsat "Earth Station", located in Upper Carmel Valley near Jamesburg.

The formal opening is April 25, and John P. Scroggs, manager of the station, said that the station will be open to the public that day, as well as on Saturdays and Sundays thereafter from 1 until 4 o'clock.

One of several already built or under construction, the station here is capable of handling and processing all types of overseas communications via satellites hovering high in the sky over the Pacific.

Under the lease the district will hire personnel to care for the pool and pay for all maintenance up to $2,000 in any fiscal year.

The pool should be available in late May according to CUSD business manager Walter Hinton. There will be a 15-cent charge, he said.

SUMMER SCHOOL

The 1969 summer school program and the educational program to be offered to fifth grade students during the 1969-70 school year was also approved by the trustees.

The summer school courses for high school students to be offered are instrumental music, math laboratory, driver training, pottery, sewing and art classes.

Reading and science will be emphasized for elementary students with libraries at all elementary schools being made available for youngsters for a six-week period beginning June 23.

Next year fifth grade students are expected to receive 300 minutes of instruction a day that will be comparable to the fifth grade program being presently offered at the Middle School.

Lowell C. Battcher was hired as an industrial arts teacher at Middle School, replacing William Morritz, who has been granted a sabbatical leave of absence.

Jeanne Fosnot has art show in Seaside

Carmel Valley artist Jeanne Fosnot is collaborating in an art show with Sophie Harpe which is currently in progress at the Seaside City Hall.

Garden Thoughts

by Salih Mehdy

of the Oleander Garden Shop

Gardeners are in the mood now to plant annual flowering plants.

These come in many different heights, so you can arrange them to be seen all at once. Tall plants to be put toward the back include the tall marigolds, stock, snaps, and tall zinnias. Medium-height annuals are the "Spun Gold" marigold, phlox, Unwin dahlias, and penunias.

Low bordering plants for the front of the bed or border are pansies, lobelia, and dwarf zinnias and marigolds.

In preparing your planting area, cultivate the soil first and incorporate into it some compost pile. Scatter about 2 lbs. of all-purpose fertilizer per 100 sq. feet, then spade it or roto-till it in. Work the soil when it is not too wet; clayey soils tend to make clods which do not pulverize later on.

When your soil is ready, then estimate the area and the plants needed.

Plant bedding plants toward the evening so the plants will have a chance to absorb enough water during the night to enable them to withstand the next day's sun. When you water them after planting, put one tablespoon of Vitamin B-1 in a gallon of water and water with this mixture. Luckily this vitamin is not expensive and you do not have to buy it from a pharmacy. A pint costs 89¢ and will be enough to make 32 gallons of mixture.

The yield of your beans and peas will increase noticeably if you inoculate the seeds with nitrogen-gathering bacteria. This bacteria can be bought as black humus in packages. If you are unable to get it, the second best way is to take some of the soil which produced a good crop of beans and peas the previous year, and sprinkle it in the rows of the new plot.

ROSES

Your roses which were pruned in January are putting out new growth of pretty, coppery leaves. These young leaves are busy making food so the roses will have enough energy for their bloom. Try to help the plant by giving it fertilizer and mulching it well. Watch for aphids on the new growth and help the plant to get rid of them. You can knock them down with a stream of water. Try to avoid using DDT for killing chewing insects; this material is dangerous. Its molecules do not break down for 10 years or more.

You might like to peg down a branch or two of your rose bush. Choose long branches which can be bent down so their tips will touch the ground. Drive a peg in the soil and tie the branch to it; it should not break or split. You might have to wait until summer for the rose to produce such long canes. A pegged branch will force all its buds to produce flowering branches; a branch bent during the summer will bloom next year. A branch bent during the spring will bloom the first summer. The wood of some roses is stiff and does not bend easily, so try to pull it down gradually over a period of several weeks.

Gardening requires that you often kneel down on your knees. This can be endured if the soil is soft and light, but when it is harsh or rocky, it is not easy. An old hot water bottle stuffed with peat moss or foam rubber will make your knees more comfortable. Or you may acquire a pair of knee-guards which fit the knee and are strapped around the leg. Thus you can move from one place to another easily, and they come in handy when you are weeding.

Try to pull weeds with their roots, especially the perennial types. Some of these roots are able to send out sprouts when left in the soil. Throw all these weeds on the compost pile and return them to the soil after their disintegration.

Flowering trees such as plums, almonds, and peaches are through blooming or about through. Now is the time to prune these trees, so they will send out new wood, on which the flower buds are carried for next year. Prune any diseased or injured branches off; also prune to shape the trees and open up the center so sunlight will penetrate, and prune to top and shorten some of the higher branches. Tree seal is necessary to apply over a cut of 3/4" or more. You may avoid using a step ladder by using a pruner with an extension rod. A step ladder on soft soil is tricky; when using it, be sure it is well anchored and balanced.

Monterey Institute of Speech and Hearing to sponsor 'Town Hall' series

A unique fund-raising project for the Monterey Institute of Speech and Hearing will bring five prominent personalities from the arts, journalism and international politics to speak here next fall, winter, and spring.

Actor and art collector Vincent Price will be one of those appearing in a "Town Hall" series of lectures which will begin in October and run through April.

Others to present one-hour lectures at the Cinema 70 Theater in Monterey will include Lady Caradon, wife of Britain's minister of State for Foreign Affairs, who will begin the series on Oct. 10; syndicated newspaper columnist Russell Baker on Nov. 19; and Robert Lee, playwright, on Jan. 15, 1970. Lee wrote "Inherit the Wind," based on the controversial Scopes trial of the 1920's, and the hit musical, "Auntie Mame".

Vincent Price will communicate his enthusiasm as a renowned art connoisseur in a lecture Feb. 27. And Richard C. Hottelet, Columbia Broadcasting System's veteran television news reporter whose specialty is the United Nations, will conclude the series on April 6.

All lectures will be held at 10 a.m. in the Cinema 70 Theater in Del Monte Center. Tickets for the entire series will be $15.

Proceeds from the fund-raising will go toward the building fund for the three and a half year old Institute for Speech and Hearing, now located at 969 Pacific St. in Monterey. Nearly 1,000 children and adults from this area and the western United States are seen there each month for evaluation and remediation of speech and hearing problems.

A staff of nine speech pathologists and audiologists, assisted by 50 active and trained volunteers also conducts an intensive research program which has received national attention.

The Institute, directed by Dr. Gene England, also maintains Children's House in Carmel Valley, a pre-school for 12 children with speech and language learning problems.

Another feature of the fund-raising lecture series will be luncheons which will follow each program and be held at the Carmel Valley Golf and Country Club and the Beach and Tennis Club. The visiting personalities will attend.

Tickets for the luncheons will be $3.75 and will be optional to the series ticket holders. They will be sold on a first-come, first-serve basis.

Tickets for the series are now on sale at the following locations: Abinante Music Store in Monterey; Friar Tuck Book Store at Mission and Sixth in Carmel; Thunderbird Book Store and the In and Outdoor Shop in Carmel Valley; Holman's Department Store in Pacific Grove; Seaside Chamber of Commerce Office and at Cinema 70.

Further information about the series and tickets may be obtained by calling Mrs. Edward Weiner at 373-2332; Mrs. Dean Ish, 372-6413; Mrs. Hisashi Kajikuri at 624-9142, and Mrs. Conrad Olsen at 659-4428.

Approve 9 Lots in Vista Hermosa; roadway praised

SALINAS (CNA) — Tentative plans for development of nine lots in Vista Hermosa subdivision were approved last week by the County Board of Supervisors, with praise expressed for ending a "death trap" entrance onto Carmel Valley Road.

Edward W. DeMar, county planning director, told Supervisors the subdivision is above the Farm Center, on the old road used for a detour. He said the tentative map required four exceptions from the county's subdivision controls. These were, he added: the roads in it would be private roads, of lower than county standards, the lots would not meet shape requirements and would not face on county roads.

He added that the lots would run in size from a little over an acre to 4-1/2 acres.

"I am delighted to see this come before us," said Board Chairman Willard T. Branson, whose district includes the area. "At least we shall have a safe entrance onto Carmel Valley Road and an end to the 'death trap'. I am happy to make the motion in favor of this tentative map."

The approval was unanimous.

St. Dunstan's Episcopal Church seeks to be 'relevant' to times

BY CHARLES JENNINGS

St. Dunstan's Episcopal Church of Carmel Valley is a modern church involved in the process of becoming relevant to the world-at-large. The key word is "relevant"—the battle cry of a whole generation of clergy and lay church members.

"My main emphasis," says Rev. James Brock, rector of St. Dunstan's, "is to get out and get something going. Instead of living in a shelter, we've got to change some of the things in society that are wrong, especially things that destroy human dignity."

Rev. Brock considers himself a minister to the entire community as well as to the members of St. Dunstan's church. "I feel that I have two congregations—one here at St. Dunstan's on Sunday morning, and one consisting of the rest of the community. Both are equally important."

Those are not merely idle words; Rev. Brock is without question a man actively involved in community service. He is a member of the Carmel School District Board of Trustees, and belongs to a great many service organizations, too numerous to list. But Rev. Brock as a man of the cloth, is active primarily through and with his church.

Under the direction of its rector, St. Dunstan's has become involved in a number of projects designed to improve the lot of the underprivileged and deprived, and broaden the life of the more privileged members of the community.

It is a co-sponsor, with All-Saints Episcopal Church of Carmel, of a summer day camp for children of varying backgrounds known as "Camp Amigos." Under this program, children (ages 8 to 11-1/2) from different social, economic and religious backgrounds come together to participate in a wide assortment of supervised activities.

"Camp Amigos" was launched last year with two one-week sessions of 60 children per session. The children are transported daily to the All Saints Day School grounds in Carmel Valley where they enjoy a variety of sports, games, crafts, hiking, and many other activities. The camp is directed by Dan Alberts, a coach at Monterey High School, and his wife; they are assisted by teenage counselors from Carmel, Carmel Valley, Seaside, and Monterey.

Many parishoners of St. Dunstan's have taken an active role in the Camp Amigos program through fund raising projects and volunteer help for the camp itself.

One of the most interesting of the fund raising projects was a continental dinner in which St. Dunstan's parishoners hosted 75 Seaside residents in an afternoon of international dining and entertainment. About 300 persons were in attendance from the community.

Rev. Brock and his church are currently involved in the planning and fund raising stages of a new project—the ABC (A Better Chance) program which originated at Dartmouth five years ago. This program, which has received national acclaim for its success in the east and seeks out "boys and girls of college potential from educationally disadvantaged circumstances and places them in the hopeful atmosphere of superior secondary schools."

It is hoped that an ABC program can be started in Carmel, with the ABC students living in a special residence and attending Carmel High School.

Although St. Dunstan's is indeed active, it is still a religious body and it would be misleading to imply that its community involvement surpassed, in importance, the internal religious life of the church. On the contrary, St. Dunstan's has a very full slate of religious activity. Yet here, too, "relevancy" is a key concept.

St. Dunstan's has three Sunday morning services; one at 8 p.m., one at 9:30 and another at 11:00. The latter is an Orthodox Episcopalian service, complete with a sermon, morning prayers, and traditional hymns; it is attended primarily by members of the parish who prefer traditional Episcopalian rites.

The 9:30 service is the family service at which there is an occasional folk communion, when young people with guitars replace the familiar choir. Discussions on everything from Viet Nam to the student revolt often replace the sermon. During the recent Lenten season, children from kindergarten through high school conducted the service for adults, lighting the candles, taking up the collection, singing the hymns, etc.

Rev. Brock explains the reasoning behind the different format: "The primary purpose of the folk mass is to put the communion service into the modern idiom so that it will be relevant to young people's lives." Mrs. Earnest Zanetta, superintendent of St. Dunstan's church school, believes the service is relevant to adults also. "All of

THE TOWN CRIER

By Rosemary Clifford

SPARKLING NEW PAINT: Public spirited young men from Schilling Co., who reside in C.V., took it upon themselves to dress up the Community Youth Center in a lovely shade of sage green. Busy with brush, spray equipment and paint(courtesy of Murphy Lumber) the group, under the guidance of Gordon Harlander, president of CVCYC, raced against threatening skies to complete the task Saturday.

Covered from head to toe with green paint, they nevertheless had their trim white company hats perched smartly on their heads. Those we have to thank are George Compas, Charles Finnell, Roy Lorenz, William Brodrick, Gordon Yates, and Ron Fleming.

THIRD ENCORE: The first wildflower walk was a great success with many common and several unpronounceable specimens making an early appearance. The second was almost rained out, but not entirely, for a few hardy souls braved the downpour anyway. But the third! A tremendous turnout with even more varieties of flowers in bloom.

Next Sunday at 9:30 a.m. is the last. Lois Robinson has been generous in sharing her hillside with those who love wildflowers.

GREAT TALENT: Nancy Johnson's water color class had an outstanding exhibit Saturday afternoon with several modest Valley artists revealing their talent.Paintings of Doyt Early, Mary Marble, Betty Woolfenden and Ruth Kirk were among those displayed.

FIRST RUMBLE?: Marking a 100-year-old anniversary Friday of a California earthquake, there are those that would have us sink in the ocean this week. One tiny quake shook the state this week, if that means anything.

DO-GOODERS: Four vacationing widows left California last week with a change of heart on hippie-dom.

Driving up the coast through miles of "not a living soul in sight", something dropped out from the bottom of the car with an ominous clatter.

Finally arriving with a flourish, came a respectable sports car with two young people dressed in hippie uniform, bare feet, long hair, unwashed clothes and the whole bit.

Offering assistance, HE fixed the car, while SHE looked on. NOT A CENT would they take. Our bewildered and grateful widows have seen a new philosophy of the young and will have quite a tale to take home.

Sierra Club

A hike to Anastasia Canyon is scheduled by the Sierra Club Saturday when they meet at 9 a.m. at the Bank of America parking lot in Carmel Valley Village.

The group will be led by Doyt Early and Jim Ziegler on the 8-mile trip which was originally scheduled for March 1, but was washed out by rain.

An elevation of 1800 feet will be gained on the hike which will show a remarkable variety of near-specimen-size trees.

Rock-climbers and hikers will join forces for a weekend at Pinnacles National Monument on Saturday and Sunday.

Under the leadership of Norm McBride, the climbers will meet at 9:30 a.m. Saturday at Chaparral Campground, West Pinnacles.

The hikers will gather at 10 a.m. Saturday, with Clarence Bates leading a cross-country hike. Hikers will need sturdy shoes which stick well to rock and should carry lunch and water. The total distance will be about five or six miles.

The two groups will combine for a campfire Saturday night. For further information, call Norm McBride, 624-4314, or Clarence Bates, 624-3435.

LOOKING ON Jenny Taylor stands by while Flora Pomeroy consults math instructor, Mrs. Lucy Foster. Observing the school work are trustees of the Carmel Unified School Districts, Richard T. Wilsden and Rev. James W. Brock.

BULLETINS ON THE WALL represents the findings of students on their investigations. Seated at left front is Steven Sherman, and consulting their books are Nikki Nedeff and Mary Coughlin.

Math has new twist in today's teaching methods

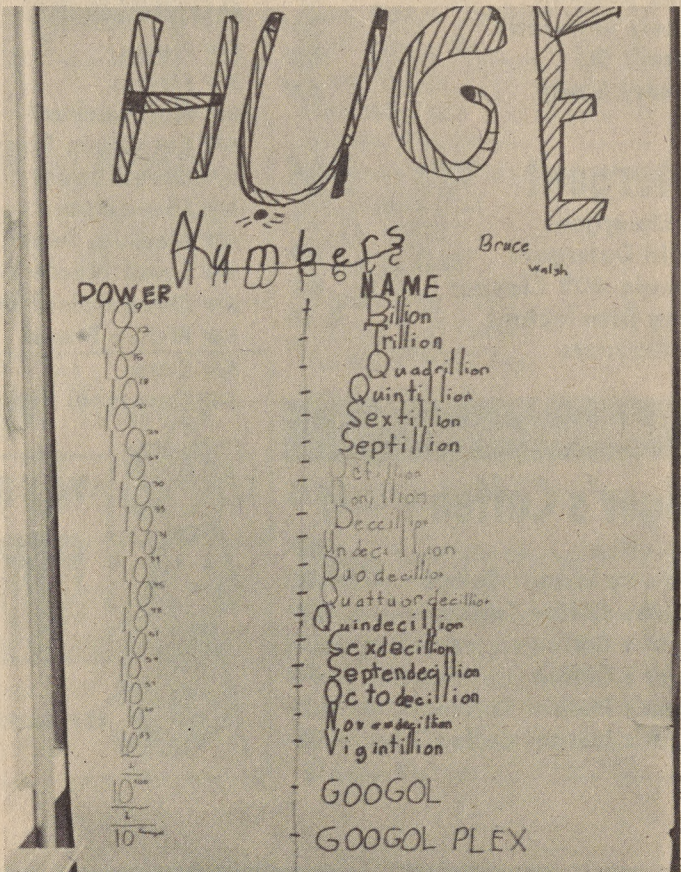

Students at Tularcitos School are acquiring knowledge through activities designed to promote learning of concepts and skills in mathematics.

Instruction is "individualized" because each child is working alone (or with his team) on his own project, chosen from the "activity cards".

Manipulation of simple environmental materials — sow bugs, flowers, thermometers, scales, string, graph paper and such is fundamental to this curriculum.

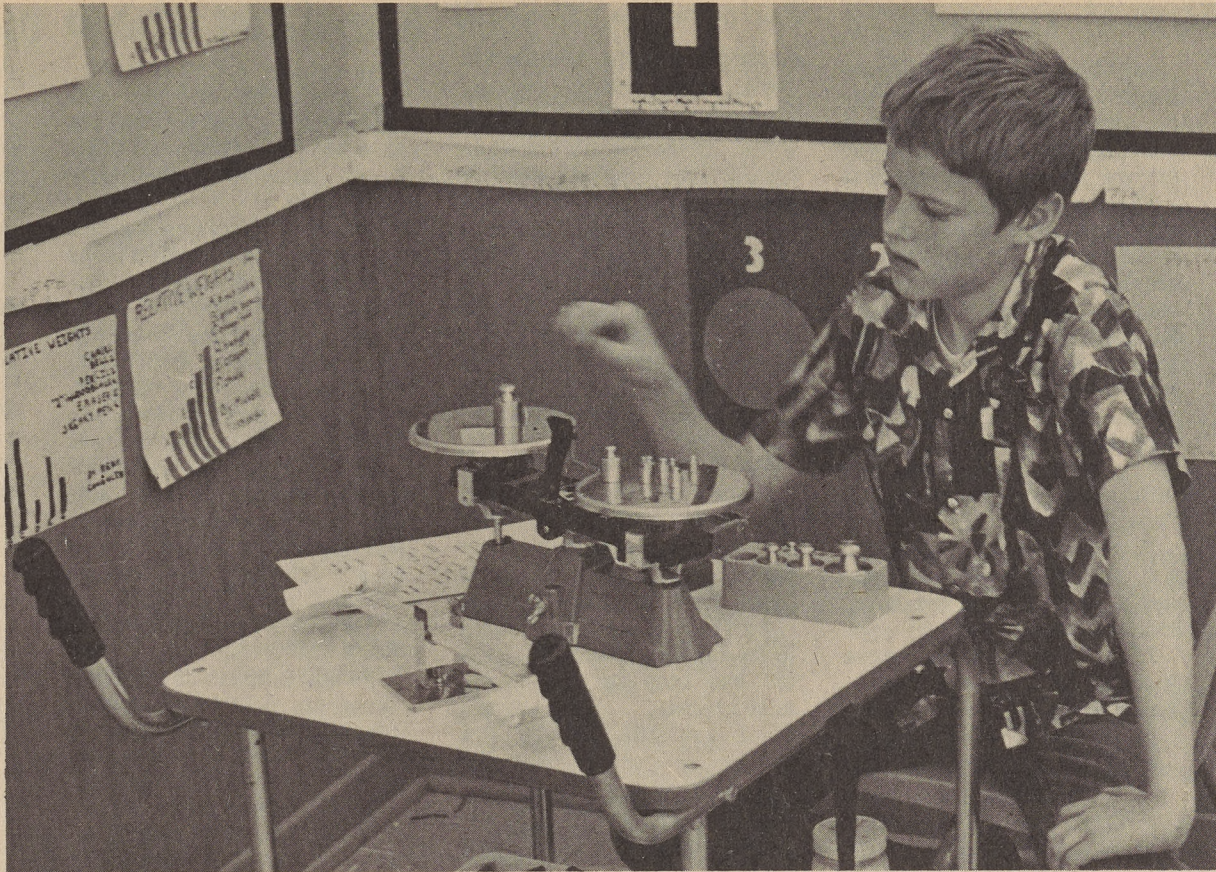

Planning, performing, recording, and reporting are part of each activity. Records are kept in individual record books.

Everything on the walls or bulletins represents the "reporting" by children of their investigations.

A NEW ANGLE: Huge Numbers, a project by Bruce Walsh, is a sample of "reporting" by children of their investigations.

BALANCING THE SCALES, Jacques Wilson is busy with his project.

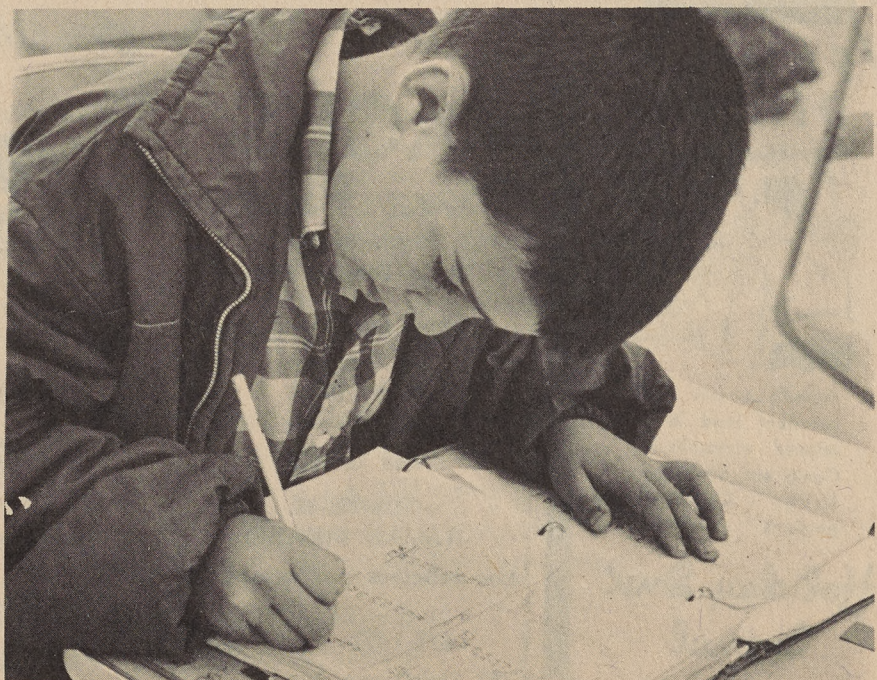

CAREFULLY WRITING UP her report, Nikki Nedeff copies her findings in notebook.

COMPLICATED STRUCTURES made by students show the length they will go with their experiments. Tracy Rushmer, in background, ponders her report as Michael Soja assists.

METICULOUSLY COPYING FIGURES, Steve Sherman works diligently to make a neat copy.

Scouts to work to help troop treasury

The Carmel Valley Boy Scouts are planning to do a good turn for a month beginning April 15th.

400 new books on library shelves

Four hundred new books arrived this week at the Carmel Valley Library with one hundred of the number written especially for children.

With the arrival a few months ago of several hundred books, this makes the shelves bulging with good reading according to Mrs. Joan Ray, librarian.

The new books cover a variety of subjects in non-fiction, covering current events, history, modern concepts in religion and race, bridge, golf and numerous other subjects. Detective novels are among the new fiction.

All of the Boy Scouts of Troop 127 will help with spring cleaning jobs, gardening, window washing, car washing, etc. Any job you need to have done that a 13 year old boy can do, they will be willing to do for you.

This Money Drive is to help provide funds for operating expenses, equipment needs, etc., for the Troop. All money earned goes to the Troop Treasury. Plan to pay $1.00 per hour (more if you feel you can, and they earned it).

The Scouts are eager and willing to do these jobs for their Troop.

If you know a Boy Scout near you, you may contact him directly or call Ted Seashore, Scoutmaster at 624-9146.

Plan to hire one or more Scouts. Do You Good Turn — Hire a Scout. — Pete Grover Troop Scribe

America's answer to the European Grand Prix auto racing circuit comes to the Monterey Peninsula's Laguna Seca Raceway May 3-4 in the form of the Laguna Seca - Royal 76 Championships for open-wheel 5 liter V-8 powered single seat racers.

A total of $15,000 in prize money is being offered to drivers of Formula A, B, and C racers competing in two 100 mile speed contests around the tricky 1.9 mile Laguna Seca course. Prize money from accessory companies boost the total to nearly $25,000.

Little League Farm Teams start practice

Practice for the Carmel Valley Little League Minor Teams began last weekend. The Farm teams are made up of younger boys who are for the most part, neophytes on the ball diamond.

Officials have made the following team assignments:

PIRATES manager is once again George Maddock with Ron Angle and Charles Wesley coaching. Teammates are Randall Angle, Lorenzi Avila, Kevin Colton, Troy Davis, Carl Fosso, Brett Gayman, Mark Neidinger, Harold Olson, David Simpson, Tim Sherman and Ron Trout.

Stephen Thigpen, whose CUBS won the Farm team pennant last season is returning for his second year as manager, with Leon Mink as coach. Playing for the CUBS will be Eric Borsting, Brian Harris, Steve Draper, William Hancpol, Rogan Hattan, Jeff Mink, Steve Horan, Shane Hattan, Ivan Nielsen, Greg Thigpen, Gordon White and Scott Thigpen.

The INDIANS will be managed by Jim Clark but are still in need of a coach. Players include Steve Allard, Don Berta, Rod Eldridge, Marc Furmanski, Bob Holberg, Bob Huzzagh, Bob James, Ira Kalkin, Kevin Klein, Andy Lockwood, David McKenzie, David Nelson, Shawn Swiss and Jerry Nelson.

Thirteen boys have signed up for the HORNETS but to date no volunteers among the adults have signed to manage or coach the team. Anyone willing to take the time to work with these young fellows are asked to phone League president, George Palmer, 659-2591.

Cypress Swimmers Place in AAU contest

Two members of the Cypress Swim Club, Bonnie Banker and Susie Selfridge, competed in the 1969 Sr. National AAU Indoor Synchronized Swimming Championships at the Deseret Gymnasium at Salt Lake City last week.

In the preliminary qualifying solo event, with 31 competitors entered from throughout the U.S., Canada, and Japan, Bonnie Banker placed 5th and Susie Selfridge, 6th. In preliminary qualifying duet competition, with 28 entries, the Banker-Selfridge combination won second place for Cypress.

The top seven winners in each prequalifying event move into the semi-finals to compete against the already seeded entries consisting of the top 20 soloists and the top 15 duets from previous Sr. Nationals plus foreign champions and District Association AAU champions.

In semi-finals, the Cypress duet won 14th place to move into the seeded ranks for the Outdoor Championships at Toledo, Ohio next July. In solos, Miss Selfridge placed 27th and Miss Banker, 29th in the semi-final competition.

V-8 engines, the sleek Formula A cars develop speeds nearly as great as their Indianapolis 500 counterparts.

Drivers in the Sports Car Club of America's Continental Championships include aces such as Lothar Motschenbacher, George Follmer, Jerry Grant and Sam Posey, all veterans on tracks across the country.

A $10,000 purse for Formula A racers is on the line at Laguna Seca while Formula B and C cars will compete for a $5,000 jackpot.

In addition to the two professional races on the May 3-4 racing weekend, a full slate of Production Sports Car, Sports racing and Sedan races will be offered on the demanding, nine-turn asphalt.

Saturday's racing action gets underway at 9:45 a.m. with practice for drivers in the regional races. The big-name pros take over the track at 10:40 a.m. for practice laps and qualifying for Sunday's big Continental Championship races.

More practice and qualifying is scheduled for Saturday afternoon, as well as the first two regional races. A third regional is on tap for Sunday morning before the big boys begin racing in earnest for $15,000 in the afternoon.

Both Formula races are scheduled for 53 laps over the Laguna Seca asphalt. Tickets for the Continental Championships will go on sale this week throughout California.

Foundation to present soloist at Town House

The Carmel Foundation will present Christopher Hungerland, bass, in a program of vocal solos, Wednesday, April 16 at 2:30 at the Town House, Lincoln near 8th.

Mr. Hungerland, who has lived in Carmel for almost two years, is presently in the army, serving as a psychological research specialist.

Prior to his army experience he had sung opera and

Grown-ups learn about kids' game

An invitation has been issued to teachers, school administrators, parents and other interested citizens to learn about "Games Kids Should Play," by Monterey County School Superintendent Ed Coffin, Saturday, April 19, at the Carmel Valley Inn.

The day-long conference, beginning at 9 a.m. and ending at 4 p.m., is sponsored by the county Office of Education, and will be conducted by Bob Hill and Carol Goodell, consultants with the Portola Teachers Institute, Menlo Park.

Maximum opportunity will be provided for conference attendees to actually participate in simulated play and activities. Additionally, the consultants will present an outline of major simulations types and discuss the simulations learning theory.

Use of simulations as learning devices was popularized by military planners. The technique has been widely adopted by industrial corporations which recognize the games' value in decision making training.

Simulations are growing in popularity with educators as excellent learning motivators, as devices for making abstract studies more concrete and hence more understandable and as methods for students to make immediate, practical application of their studies.

WAKE 'O THE BUCKET

To residents who have lived in the Valley only a few years, the smoke and flames seen across the street from the Rancho Carmelo a few weeks ago meant only the burning of an old building. However, to the settlers of earlier days, it meant the end of an era and hence from out of the ashes arose "The Wake 'O The Bloody Bucket!"

Ginnie and Lee Murphy offered their home on Salsuepedes, Old Sol, the sun-god, beamed his approval, and the hundred plus guests filled three huge tables with potluck barbecue dishes which were enjoyed throughout the afternoon.

Preparations had been kept as a surprise from the Empress of the Establishment, Mrs. Robert Meadows, until the afternoon of the party. Poncho suggested a ride to Cookie and drove into the Murphy yard filled with signs proclaiming the Wake and memorabilia of "The Bucket."

Nita Halferty and Jerry Stusek were two of the instigators of the wake. The Bucket's two outdoor bathrooms had been salvaged and decorated by Jerry. One in pink, one in blue, and both bedecked with flowers! A wire sculpture of Cookie was viewed through the pink door. (Both were presented to the guests of honor who took them home with many artistic suggestions as to their future!)

An ornate easel dramatically displayed the "Last Board" of the Bucket and was duly christened with champagne provided by Mrs. Richard Dick.

Many signs and other relics were to be found but none as truly representative of the good old days as the "hang man" which for many years had lived in the Bucket.

It seems that many years ago, young lovers who attempted to park in a well known secluded lane were constantly harassed by the foreman of that ranch. One night his effigy was discovered hanging HIGH in a tree beside the Bucket. The deputy sheriff, then Johnny Johansen (Dead Eye), shot the figure out of the tree and it became a permanent part of the Bucket's history. When first time customers would ask Cookie who he was, she would always reply, "Oh he's a guy who just hangs around!"

Johnny and Peggy Johansen were among the guests lamenting the demolishing of a landmark along with the Don Mc Kenzies, Sr., the Olmsteads, the Hernandezes, the Andersons, Mary Jan Wolters, the Al Parkers, the gang from Will's Fargo, the Alvarados, and MANY more including "Big Jim" De Noon. The latter is the area's favorite western musician and since he "just happened to have his speakers and instruments in the car", provided music for a real western hoe-down.

The saying "a drunkard never sees a cork but has a reverie" was proven many times during the afternoon when memories triggered by "do you remember" invariably led to another incident (nearly all of them hilarious) by the revelers who hope to make the Wake 'O the Bucket an annual spring event.

CHESS CHAMP

Scoring 5-1/2 points out of a possible 6, Don Draper Jr. became champion of the second annual Monterey Peninsula Schools Chess tournament held during Easter vacation.

Don's awards included a trophy, membership in the Monterey Peninsula Chess Club, a year's membership in the Casa Alvarado Chess Center, and the United State's Chess Federation. He also has a free entry into the coming Monterey International Open Chess Tournament to be held June 28-29 at the San Carlos Hotel.

Don, who is 15 and a sophomore at Carmel High, has played chess since he was small but only since fall has he entered into competition.

He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Don Draper, Sr., of 1 Rancho Road. Runner up with 4-1/2 points was Michael Barthelow of Robert Louis Stevenson.

NEW GRANDSON

Mr. and Mrs. R.B. Stoney of Carmel Valley Road received the joyous news of the birth of a grandson, Mathew William, in Bamberg, Germany, where his parents, Sue and Bill Morris are in the American School System. Sue has many friends in the Valley where she taught for awhile at Tulare City. Mathew joins brothers Andrew, Ronald, George, and a sister, Elizabeth.

Toasting the new addition to the Stoney family during their Easter visit from their home in San Francisco were Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Stoney, Jr. and their sons, Mark, David, and Steven.

SPECIAL THANKS

"An old oak leaf cluster" to the Carmel Valley Garden Association and Don Hickman of the Tiki Garden Shop at Mid-Valley Shopping Center, who gifted each student in the Kindergarten through Third Grade classes at Tulare City with a packet of wild flower seeds. The seeds were given this year in place of the seedling pine trees which have been presented for several years at the Arbor Day ceremony (the date for this year's special spring event will be announced at a later date according to Tulare City principal, George Gustafson) and by this time next year should cover thewhole bloomin' Valley!

Be sure to save May 10 for their annually sponsored Flower and Garden Show. The theme this year is "Spring Song".

GUESTS FROM IOWA

Guests from Iowa are making an eleven day stay at the Valley home of Mr. and Mrs. Ron Angle. Diane's sister, Gay and her husband, Joscelyn flew to the Peninsula on their third trip to California.

Especially enjoying the visit with the Bloms and their 3-1/2 year old son, Greg, is his cousin, who is also 3-1/2, and his older brother, Randy. The Angles and Bloms were dinner guests last week at the Village Drive home of Mr. and Mrs. Bill Lowther, whose son attends college in Grinnell, Iowa, where the Bloms make their home. Mrs. Lowther served a special dessert, a lemon pie made from the recipe given to her by the restaurant where it is the specialty in that Iowa college town.

WORK PARTY

A day long work party was held Friday at the Monarch Pines Mobile Homes Park with Mrs. Irving Ollason and her co-publicity chairmen for the May 1st, C.V. Women's Club House Tour. Forming an efficient assembly line, the ladies put together brochures which not only contain directions to the ten tour stops but pertinent and informative facts about each place. Assisting Louella and Jeanine were Miss Esther Trevino, and Mmes. Elsie Siemens, Vera Stokes, Faye Lloyd, Douglas Forzani and Joseph Bau-douin.

HEAR CANDIDATES

A Koffee which gave their friends an opportunity to meet and speak informally with Mrs. William (Barbara) Sanford, a candidate for the Carmel Unified School District Board was given Wednesday morning at the Aliso Rd. home of Mrs. Tom Bordonaro, who was assisted by her sister-in-law, Mrs. Sebastian Bordonaro.

Attending were Mmes. Robert Zampatti, Phil Wright, James Miller, Jack Black, William Stowers, John Monroe, Mildred Hattan, Salvatore Verde, Leroy Dufur, L. Overhulse, Larry Feldman, Lloyd Swanson, Lloyd Todd, Richard Gayman, Donald Draper, Gary Eldredge and Mal

Tavares.

TRIBUTE PAID SELLERS

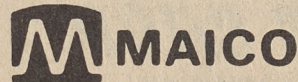

Tributes were paid to a former Valley resident, the late Capt. William E. Sellers of the Monterey County Sheriff's Department, at the 75th annual state sheriff's association convention held recently in San Francisco.

His name was listed with the men whose memory was honored by fellow officers during a moment of silent prayer and again during the discussion of the new civil manual which was presented to the conclave.

Bill had been one of the group of civil division officers who had contributed material to the 600 page edition. His death, attributed to a heart attack, occurred a year ago on the pistol range of the Sheriff's department.

The convention also saw the election of Monterey County's sheriff, Jack Davenport, to the office of sergeant-at-arms, which is the preliminary step in a four-year procedure which leads to the state presidency.

Sojourn in Soviet Republic told by

Dr. Ann Nowell

Dr. Ann Nowell, psychologist and Valley resident, who took a camping tour in the Ukraine and the Soviet Republic last summer, will open a series of lectures and slides at the Monterey Peninsula College with Mrs. Dale Eberly, her travelling companion, Friday at noon in the college Lecture Forum 102.

The two travellers mingled with students and experienced life far from the tourist circuit to study language and culture of Russia.

The lecture is the first of a series to be presented by "world-minded people."

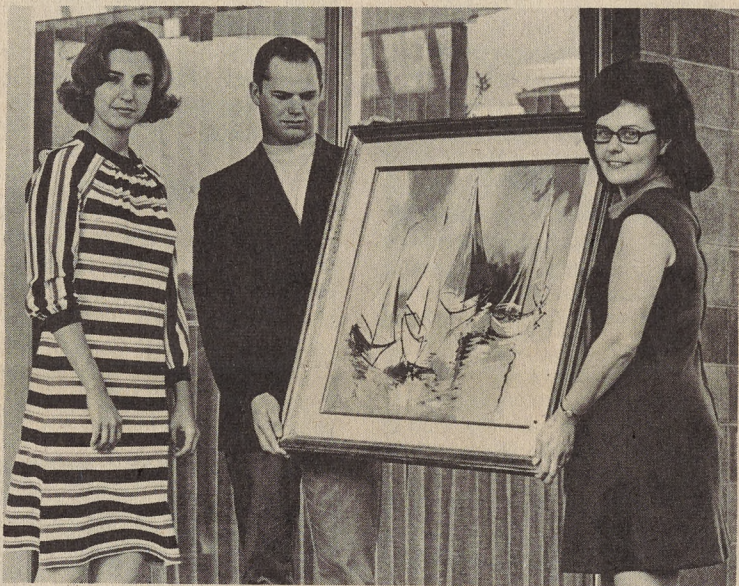

Yoga Workshop at MPC

A workshop in yoga will be conducted at Monterey Peninsula College on four Mondays—April 21 and 28 and May 5 and 12—7 to 8:15 p.m. in the MPC gymnasium dance studio.

Workshop activities will include an introduction to proper breathing techniques and various exercises, as prescribed by the ancient Hindu system of mental discipline, to strengthen internal organs, muscles and body tissues. Emphasis will be placed on body postures to retard aging, align the spinal column and generally improve health. Ravi Shankar's sitar recordings will be played as background music "to introduce an air of relaxation for the exercises."

Tamara (June Kroger), who conducts a yoga program on KMST-TV will lead the workshop. Formerly a professional tennis teacher, she studied yoga exercises and flamenco guitar in New York and "became involved" in a Gurdjieff study group for nine years. She had her own school in Los Angeles for two years before coming to the Peninsula last July to teach classes at various local community centers and privately.

A pre-registration fee of $10 for the MPC yoga workshop is payable at the college community services office in the administration building on campus.

PRIZE PAINTING—Mrs. David Caylor (left) shows off a painting held by her husband and Mrs. Sam Salerno. The Caylor's won the seascape by Carmel artist Joe Lazar in a contest by naming 905 songs with the word "heart" in their titles. The local couple exceeded by several times the number expected by the sponsoring Central Mission Trails Heart Association. In other communities winners of similar contests had only 150-200 titles. The Caylor's produced an astonishing list including such gems as "A Broken Heart and a Glass of Beer", "Don't Use My Heart as a Stepping Stone," and "Hotdog Heart". She is a music teacher. He is a student at the Navy Language School. Mrs. Salerno is the wife of the owner of KRML, which organized the contest.

St. Dunstan's

his (Rev. Brock's) sermons are geared to everyday life. He doesn't go way out on theological tangents."

Emphasis at St. Dunstan's, however, is often on the young. A Sunday church school is offered for the pre-high school children, while a youth group meets weekly for the older youth. This youth group has a four-point program: service projects, to the community or the church; money raising projects, with the money going to church-related purposes; study projects, on social problems and human relations; and a project called Choose Life, in which members "talk about awareness."

How is the accent on youth working at St. Dunstan's? Says Mrs. James A. Stewart, chairman of the social action committee at St. Dunstan's, "Attendance is exceptionally good for young people — because they WANT to come instead of being MADE to come. The main reason for this is that Jim's (Rev. Brock's) attitude and approach to the young people is so extremely good."

If relevancy is an important theme at St. Dunstan's, ecumenism is hardly less so. Rev. Brock encourages inter-faith co-operation, and has directed several activities designed to increase understanding between denominations. One, "Operation Understanding," brought a rabbi, a Catholic priest, and several Protestant ministers to

Rev. James Brock to be instituted as St. Dunstan's rector

The Right Reverend C. Kilmer Myers will be in Carmel Valley on Sunday, April 20th for the institution of The Rev. James W. Brock as the first rector of St. Dunstan's Parish.

The service will be held at 11 a.m. in the church on Robinson Canyon Road, and the wardens and vestrymen extend a cordial invitation to all.

The Rt. Rev. Richard Mil-speak before the members of St. Dunstan's.

Though it is one of the older churches in Carmel Valley, St. Dunstan's seems young and modern at heart. As Mrs. Stewart put it, St. Dunstan's "tries to be very aware of the community around it and be abreast of the times."

lard called Fr. Brock to the, then, small mission of St. Dunstan's as the Bishop's Vicar. This was in 1962 when just a handful of faithful people met in the Community Center. In 1964, the mission erected the modern yet rustic church designed by Mel Blevens on Robinson Canyon Road and since that time has added a church school wing, a kitchen, and a rectory for the Brock family.

In the last four years the parish family has grown from their 30 families to 150 families and there is now a pressing need to extend the church walls to accommodate the families who attend the 9:30 services. After three years of self-support, St. Dunstan's was granted parish status by the Diocese of California. This occurred at the February convention and shortly thereafter, the vestry selected The Rev. Jim Brock to be their first rector.

The 11:00 a.m. Institution will follow a 9:30 folk communion which the young people of St. Dunstan's have prepared especially for the bishop.

Richard Wenzlik is the Sr. Warden and James Rutledge, the Jr. Warden. Capt. George Clifford, Capt. J.N. Heiner, George Lockwood, Miss Alice Ringheim, Mrs. W.L. Maxson, Mrs. James Stewart, Stephen Thigpen, Ben Viljoen and Miss Kay Witter make up the Vestry. Mrs. Ted Hansen is the clerk of the vestry.

Announcing the first car of the '70s at 1960 prices.

FORD MAVERICK $1995*

(You don't have to read it all—but it's nice to know it's all there.)

Most new cars look like other cars. But when the word gets out that something really different is on the way, rumors run wild. Few cars have caused as much talk as Maverick. Ford's new entry in the small car field rivals the economy imports in price . . . but tops them in power, performance, passenger room and luggage capacity. We've been bombarded with questions about Maverick. Now, for the first time, here are the answers.

Q. Why did you build the Maverick?

A. We think of Maverick as another one of Ford Motor Company's answers to the gold drain. Now Americans who want small car economy don't have to send their U.S. dollars overseas.

Q. Why did you call it Maverick?

A. You know what a maverick is. A maverick breaks the rules. A maverick is different. Maverick plugs the big gap between the compacts and the imports. It has a wheelbase eight inches shorter than a '69 Falcon, eight and one-half inches longer than a VW 1500. Nothing else like it.

Q. Why did you make it this size?

A. Maverick pinches pennies, not people. We gave Maverick more leg room. More shoulder room. More luggage room. Good example: the front seat of a Maverick offers you nine inches more shoulder room than the front seat of the leading economy import and its trunk can handle all the luggage for a family of four, including a set of golf clubs.

Q. What do I get for the price?

A. You get your money's worth. A complete, built-for-Americans kind of car. Room. Hot styling. Color-keyed interiors. Even the heater is included. Some economy car interiors are about as luxurious as a park bench. Not Maverick's. You get plush seats. Cloth and vinyl upholstery with unique tartan plaid cloth inserts. You also get safety features like smart pull-out door handles. Strong safety door locks. Two-speed electric wipers. Safety belts. Head restraints. Plus conveniences like armrests, coat hooks, lighted heater controls . . . important little things that add so much to your driving comfort.

Q. What about options?

A. You can get 'em if you want 'em. You can order integral air conditioning. (It's built in, not hung on.) Other options include 3-speed automatic or low-cost semiautomatic transmission, and a hefty 200 CID Six. But lots of people won't put an extra cent into this car. Because it's all there. A complete car all ready to drive home.

Q. What kind of gas mileage can I get?

A. That depends on you as well as the car. You can get as much as 25 or 26 miles per gallon—if you have an educated toe and the right road conditions. If you have a lead foot, or do a lot of city driving, you will get a lot less. In tests by professional drivers at our tracks, where we do our best to duplicate actual driving conditions, Maverick averaged 22.5 mpg.

Q. What kind of power does Maverick have?

A. Maverick's Six lets loose 105 galloping horses. That's 52 more than you get in the 4-cylinder VW 1500. Maverick can cover 417 feet in ten seconds from a standing start. That means you can get up to highway speed in a hurry. When you enter a 70 mph turnpike, you won't feel like a retired bookkeeper thrust into the middle of a pro football game.

Q. If it has an eight inch longer wheelbase than the leading import, does it still handle and park easily?

A. Maverick can U-turn in a tighter circle (35.6 feet) than the leading economy import (36.0 feet). Maverick can slant through traffic like a halfback. It can turn on a dime and give you nine cents change. If you've been driving any other American car, you'll find Maverick's neat size adds up to 5½ feet to any parking space.

Q. Can Detroit really build a small economy car that's tough and long lasting?

A. It's not easy, but we did it. Maverick's unitized body construction makes it light, strong and durable. It's welded like a battleship. Rustproofing compound goes into deep crevices that never see the light of day. Then all that strength is covered with four coats of paint for lasting beauty. Result: one tough little car that's put together to stay together. (The service schedule in the Maverick owner's manual goes up to 108,000 miles or nine years; that ought to tell you something about its rugged durability.)

Q. How about parts and service?

A. Maverick is designed to be unusually easy to service. You're dealing with made-in-America parts and 6,000 easy-to-find Ford Dealers. Fast repairs and easy replacements mean extra savings in both time and money.

Q. Is Maverick really easier and less expensive to maintain than an economy import?

A. Definitely. Maverick oil changes come only every 6,000 miles and chassis lubrication once every 36,000 miles. The leading economy import recommends oil changes every 3,000 miles (twice as often as Maverick) and chassis lubrication every 6,000 miles (six times as often as Maverick!). Those are just a few examples of the many ways Maverick lessens inconvenience and lowers operating cost.

Q. Can I do my own maintenance work?

A. Yes, if you have an average amount of mechanical ability. The Maverick owner's manual contains 24 pages of detailed diagrams and easy-to-follow instructions for routine maintenance jobs you can do yourself, if you wish. You'll find it easy to change spark plugs, replace ignition points . . . plus many other do-it-yourself repairs and replacements.

Q. Can a small car be safe? And how safe is safe?

A. This small car incorporates the latest advances in engineering. Maverick's brakes are as big as a standard compact's—designed to stop cars weighing hundreds of pounds more. Maverick gives you weight . . . power . . . stability. Designed for American driving conditions.

Q. How does Maverick ride?

A. Here's where Maverick's longer, wider stance really pays off. You get a smoother, quieter ride. Maverick's tight, strong, unitized body helps eliminate squeaks and rattles. Special insulation blocks out road noise. The people who brought you a Ford that was quieter than a Rolls-Royce now bring you a small car that doesn't sound like a power mower.

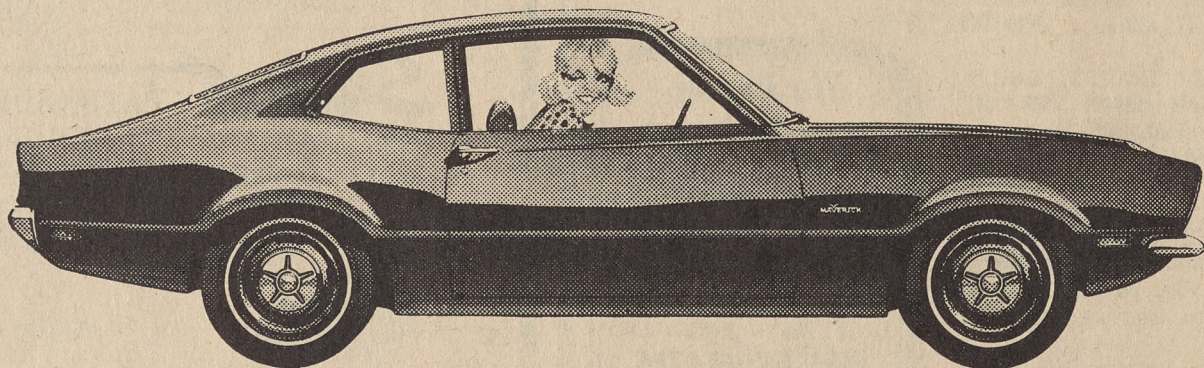

Q. Is there an advantage in the fact that Maverick is really a 1970 car?

A. Slower depreciation is one money-in-the-pocket advantage. Maverick's 1970 model designation means it keeps its trade-in value higher, longer. (Maverick is built to be a good investment from the minute you buy it to the minute you sell it.)

Better come take a look at this one. You'll find it where the action is . . . right in there with other great Ford values like specially equipped Ford Galaxie 500's . . . Fairlanes . . . Mustangs and Falcons.

You'll find them at your Ford Dealer's . . . the place you've got to go to see what's going on.

For an authentic 1/25 scale model of the new Ford Maverick, send $1.00 to Maverick, P.O. Box 5397, Department N-50, Detroit, Michigan 48211. (Offer ends July 31, 1969.)
